| El Portal Theatre | 2 Manual 6 Rank | 1928 | Wurlitzer Style D |
| Wurlitzer Opus 1854 was installed in August of 1928 in the El Portal Theatre of Las Vegas. It is the first recorded existence of a Pipe Organ in Las Vegas. At an unknown time the organ was removed from the theater and installed in the home of Mr. Charles Lyall, charter member of ATOS, in Pauma Valley in Pala, California near San Diego as part of a now 24 rank Wurlitzer. | | | |
| Residence of Phil Maloof | 6 Manual 45 Theatre | 1931/1999 | Barton |
| | 4 Manual 18 Theatre | 1926/2002 | Wurlitzer |

Barton Op. 350 of 10 ranks and three manuals was originally installed in the Paramount Theatre in Newport News, Virginia. It has the distinction of being the last instrument shipped from the Barton factory in 1931. It was later installed in a theatre in Alexandria, Virginia for a few years, moved to the Midwest where eventually the organ was purchased by the Granada Historical Society and installed in the Granada Theatre in Kansas City in 1986 and had 11 ranks added to it. The Granada Theatre closed, and in 1997 it was purchased by Phil Maloof and installed in his Music Room here in Las Vegas. About the same time the six-manual console from the Barton 55-rank organ in the Chicago Stadium (which was torn down to make way for the new United Center, the pipes of the instrument were never relocated to a new home, and while in storage, 75% of the organ was destroyed in a fire) was also purchased by Phil Maloof and was completely restored and connected to operate the Barton Op. 350. The original console has also been retained. Another 10 ranks were added making a total of 32 ranks. In addition the organ has some "classical" ranks added bringing the total to 43 ranks. Bob Maes was the principal technician responsible for the current installation.

| Residence of Dr. Paul Hesselink | 8 (Tracker) | 2001 | Steven Cook |

The three 10-stop “hausorgels” by Steven Cook are of identical specifications but to suit each individual environment are on three different wind pressures. The owners of the three instruments chose their own case decorations; Jane Dye is designing and carving pipeshades for her instrument. Alice Hohenthaner chose pipe shades finished in the fumed oak of the case. Paul Hesselink chose bright “red decadence” painted shades.

| Residence of Bruce Behnke | 7 (Tracker) | 2003 | Steven Cook |
| Residence of John Ledwon The original Wurlitzer started life in 1926 as a 3 manual 8 rank church organ that went to the First Christian Church, Lake wood, Florida on June 30, 1926. It was repossessed by Wurlitzer, rebuilt and moved to the Calvary Undenominational Church, Grand Rapids, Michigan December 17, 1929. Mr. Ledwon purchased it from the family of the person who bought it from the second church and installed in their 100 year old farm house near the Canadian border. | 13 (Theater) | 2014 | Wurlitzer |
